The Cigar Manufacturers and Makers to Meet Together

TO CONSIDER THE INCREASED TAX

Put by the Senate on Domestic Cigars-The Duty on Imported Cigars Cut Bown and the Internal Revenue Increased at a Rate That Will Prove Ruinons to Home Manufacturers-The Stogie Smoker Will Possibly Suffer More than the Manufacturer, but the Industry Will be Hit Hard if the Change Finally Prevails.

At the invitation of Garfield Assembly K. of L., composed of the cigar and sto-gie makers of Wheeling, a joint meeting of the cigar manufacturers and their workmen will be held this evening in the Beothoven hall, to take action in reference to the proposal by the U. S. senate to amend the Wilson bill so as to increase the internal revenue tax on domestic cigars from $3 to $5 a thousand. It will be remembered by most people that some weeks ago a meeting was held, at which a committee from Garfield assembly was present to urge cooperation by the employers to protest against any increase of the tax. The asagainst any increase of the tax. The as-sembly had already taken that action, and one or two manufacturers had written letters to friends in Congress in the same line. The meeting adopted resolutions after considerable discus-sion, but its action was by no means unanimous. There were manufacturers present who said there was no reason to fear an increase and who objected to present who said there was no reason to fear an increase, and who objected to sending in a protest in advance of action. It was prophesied by Chairman Ebeling, Mr. Seamon and others that the views of Secretary Carlisle and others, who favored an increase of the tax, would be carried out, and good precedent was given for this belief.

The next day the Register printed interviews and an editorial ridiculing the idea of any increase. The movement to idea of any increase. The movement to file a protest was denounced as a par-tisan echeme. Nobody, however, was ever heard to say that an increase would not be disastrous to WHEELING'S STOGIE INDUSTRY.

Those who thought an increase of the tax would not be possible probably look on the matter now in another light, but on the matter now in another light, but perhaps it may prove too late for their action to be effective.

Yesterday INTELLIGENCER reporters talked to a number of manufacturers, all of whom agreed that an increase of the internal revenue tax to $5 a thousand would be ruinous to their trade. Officials and members of Garfield assembly also said it would either reduce wages or increase the price of their product, and in the latter case must reduce the consumption of the goods, and thus affect the amount of wages paid out; so that, at any rate, the proposed increase would be a direct and serojus blow to the cigar and stogic makers. The assembly invited the and serious blow to the cigar and stegic makers. The assembly invited the manufacturers to meet with its members so as to preclude any foolish idea, such as formerly prevailed, that there is any attempt to make partisan capital out of the matter, or to do anything but exert such influence as they may to prevent the gravest injury to one of the leading industries of this community. If there is any partisan capital made by the action of Congress, they say, that cannot certainly be laid at the door of those who oppose that action.

The present tax on eigars of domestic manufacture is $3 a thousand. The new senate schedule makes it $5-that is, insenate schedule makes it 50—that is, in-creases the cost of putting cigars on the market by home manufacturers $2 a thousand. The import duty is also re-duced, so that the foreign-made cigar gets a tremendous advantage over that of American manufacture. A veteran manufacture yesterday told the intelligence that he had sold cigars of German manufacture at retail in this town cheaper than he could sail in this town cheaper than he could seil the stogies he made himself. Lest this may be thought an exaggeration the following is taken from the current issue of The Tohacco Leaf, the organ of the industry in this country:

"In years gone by, millions of cigars made in Europe were sold in this country at 53.50 per thousand for fow grades, to 85 per thousand for fine goods, and if the ad valorem daticities of ed by the renate committee become the law, the same classed goods can be sold here for $10 to 25.

San Harrison's "Bowlers," who some time ago were known by their self styled title, "The Bowlers," have avenged the deadliest insult of the bowling season—their defeats by the Press Club several weeks ago. Last night they caught the mewspaper gang two men short on their home alleys and "they didn't do a thing to them." The result is found below, and as a consequence the Bowlers pass the Wheeling Athletic Wheelmen in the race for the pennant: THE BOWLERS PRESS CLUB.

sachusetts avenue in Washington and in Second street. The latter place had been secured by the witness for Miss Pollard, and a male child had been born which was placed in an asylum.

"Did you ever see the child afterwards? asked Mr. Wilson.
"I did."

"Did you ever see the child afterwards? asked Mr. Wilson.
"! did."

"Who was present?"

"The mother of the child."

An exciting scene followed this answer. Every ear in the court heard a muilled sobbing, which came from Miss Pollard, and looking toward her the young woman was seen with her head bowed almost to her lap shaking convulsively. The two friends from the house of refuge who have been her constant attendants bout over, trying to calm her, but her emotion would not be subdued. Finally they were compelled to take her from the foom, half leading and half carrying her, while a deep sympathotic silence was over the room. Just as she stepped through the doorway Miss Pollard fell forward ininting, and would have touched the floor had not a stalwart colored bailfild sprung forward to grasp her in his strong arms. Colonel Breckinridge averted his face and whispered with his attorneys.

As the door of the court room closed upon the fainting woman, Mr. Wilson resumed his examination, asking what became of the child?

"The child died," was the answer.
"Was any communication made to you by Miss Pollard as to who was the inther of the child?"

Colonel Breckinridge leaned forward, breaking in eagerly, "I object to that," and his attorneys chorused the objection.
"State the objection," said the judge.

"State the objection," said the judge.
Mr. Wilson said the question had been carefully gnarded. The objection was admitted, and after more cross fire Dr. Paraons said: "I called upon Colonel Breckinridge at his residence on M street with a bill to Miss Pollard for my services. He forwarded the payment of the bill to me."

She had seen Colonel Breckinridge and Miss Pollard together on the street. In response to cross-examination the doctor said that she told Colonel Breckinridge that she had the bill for several weeks until paid; had heard that he was Miss Pollard's guardian and asked him to pay it.

HOT WORDS. "State the objection," said the judge.

After the brief cross-examination of this witness the legal controversy over the depositions was renewed.

Mr. Butterworth, for Colonel Breck-

the depositions was renewed.

Mr. Butterworth, for Colonel Breckinridge, moved to suppress a deposition taken for the plaintill in Lexington, March 7. Notice, he said, had been served on Mr. Shelby, who was then an attorney in the case, having only appeared for the defendant on one or two occasions, when depositions were taken under special authority.

Affidavits by Colonel Breckinridge, his son, Desha Breckinridge, and his partner, Attorney Shelby, were read at considerable length regarding the defendant's arrangements with counsel, which did not seem altogether relovent in parts, Judge Bradley once interrupting to inquire: "what has that got to do with this matter?" The main point made was that notice of the depositions should have been given to Colonel Breckinridge's lawyers in Washington, Messrs, Thompson and McKenney.

Mr. Butterworth argued at length, and then Mr. Johnson replied for the plaintiff, referring rather sarcastically to what he termed "the peculiar proceedings in Kentucky," and the peculiar manner of the connection of the Kentucky attorneys to the case, who had appeared generally in the preliminary proceedings in Kentucky," and the peculiar proceedings in Kentucky," and the peculiar manner of the connection of the defendant, but whose connection in matters to his disadvantage had secret qualification. In the taking of the depositions for Colonel Breckinridge, neither the defendant, nor Attorneys Totten, Thompson and McKenney had appeared, but always the Kentucky attorneys, of whom it was now said that they had not been attorneys of record. Mr. Johnson characterized the objection as a piece of chicanery, insolence and effrontery.

When Mr. Johnson had finished his argument Judge Bradley said that the court would adjourn.

Mr. Shelby, of Kentucky, of whom Mr. Johnson had spoken sharply, jumned to his feet saying: "Will your honor allow me," but Judge Bradley said that the court would adjourn.

As soon as he had done so, Colonel Breckinridge, steppel up before the

A FIGHT OCCUES.

An exciting scene indicating the intense feeling which exists between the counsel on the opposing sides occurred just outside the court room when the court adjourned to-day. Mr. Shelby, of counsel for deiendant, rebuked Mr. Johnson, of counsel for plaintiff, for his harsh criticism of Mr. Shelby during the course of the attornoon's proceedings. Hot words followed and before the outcome could be stopped, Mr. Shelby struck Mr. Johnson a blow, Mr. Carlisle came to the assistance of Mr. Johnson and in a moment the lawyers on each side were involved in what would undoubtedly have been an ugly fracas had not the cool headed men in tense feeling which exists between the fracas had not the cool headed men in fracas had not the cool headed men in the crowd of members of the nar which surrounded the angry lawyers inter-fered and separated the combatants. The aflair created somewhat of a sensa-tion and added to the remarkable inci-dents of the day. Judge Bradley stated that he would investigate the trouble in the morning and fine the oflending per-son for contempt of court.
